SUPPORTING NEURODIVERGENT LEARNERS

Discover how to create learning environments where every child's voice is supported. This practical training shows you how to design communication friendly spaces using visual supports, thoughtful layouts and other approaches that reduce barriers to learning.

You'll explore universal strategies that work for all learners, including adapting your language, explicitly teaching and reinforcing vocabulary, using Total Communication Approach to strengthen communication and build meaning and belonging.

Join us to co-create, proactive approaches as a group, embedding communication friendly practice into everyday learning and development.
